WETSTYLE'S M COLLECTION WINS TOP AWARD AT DPHA CONFERENCE

(MONTREAL, CANADA – OCTOBER 26, 2009) – Just a few months after its introduction, the M Collection has won the Bath Furniture Product of the Year Award at the 2009 Decorative Plumbing and Hardware (DPHA) Conference. The prize was one of five coveted Innovative Product of the Year Awards handed out at the annual industry expo, held October 16-18, in Colorado Springs, CO. A panel of five judges, including editors from DWELL, Hospitality Design, Kitchen & Bath Design News and The Architect's Newspaper, selected the top products based on excellence in design and innovation.

With the M Collection, WETSTYLE, whose signature is hand-made artisanal-quality modern bath furnishings, has taken the concept of bathroom furniture to a new level. The collection's minimalist, modular styling provides virtually unlimited flexibility and freedom to create a one-of-a-kind sanctuary. Boldly geometric and Japanese-inspired in spirit, the five components comprising the group come in an array of sizes, materials and finishes, allowing for myriad configurations. WETSTYLE's attention to detail is typified by the exceptional wood finish, which, comparable to a boat deck, is highly moisture-resistant and rated Level Five by the Architectural Woodwork Institute.

The DPHA award marks the latest in a string of notable achievements for WETSTYLE. This month the brand is making its European debut at C.P. Hart, Britain's renowned retailer of design-driven plumbing and hardware.
